Union Building Bids Awarded by TC Board

Doudna to Be Installed October 21

Dr. Quincy Doudna will be formally installed as president of Eastern in public ceremonies to be held October 21.

Representatives of all colleges and universities in Illinois as well as learned societies and teacher education institutions throughout the United States have been invited to participate in the inaugural procession.

President Doudna, who became Eastern's chief administrative official in September, 1956, is the third president in the 58-year history of the university.

He succeeded Dr. Robert G. Buzard, president from 1933 until his retirement last year. Livingston C. Lord, president of Eastern when it first opened in 1899, served until his death in 1933.

Before coming to Eastern, Dr. Doudna was dean of administration at Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point.

Dean Hobart F. Heller, a member of the faculty and administration under all three presidents, will preside at the ceremonies next October.

Reaching High

Claire Roeslein, a junior from Litchfield and president of Delta Zeta sorority, reaches high to correct the highway sign at the corner of Madison and Sixth street. The sign is outdated since the bill that made Eastern a university was signed several weeks ago.

'University' Diplomas Will Cost Graduates $2 for Name Change

Summer graduates will be required to pay $2 in order to receive diplomas reading "Eastern Illinois University" instead of "Eastern Illinois State College" according to Dean of the Faculty, Hobart F. Heller.

Heller explained that the university will absorb the additional cost, amounting to approximately 75 cents for each diploma. "The university has no backlog to pay for diploma costs," Heller said. The funds for these expenses are taken from students at the time of their graduation.

Students will pick up a "college" diploma at commencement. Those people desiring a "university" diploma will deposit the $2 cost and fill out application blanks at commencement rehearsal July 1.

It will take approximately four to six months to obtain the new diplomas because of the time spent in printing and obtaining signatures for them, explained the dean.

The same covers will be used for the new diplomas as was used for the "college" certificates. "We can understand the stu-

Hannah Eads Has Painting Accepted For State Fair

Hannah Eads, Eastern graduate student, has been notified that her painting of a figure study has been accepted for exhibition at the Illinois State Fair in August. The painting will be on display at the Old Northwest Territory exhibition at the fair.

The exhibition includes entries from the states composing the original old northwest territory. Judges selecting paintings for the exhibition were from St. Louis, Chicago, and Springfield.

CPA Addresses Business Confo

A conference on school business administration sponsored jointly by Eastern and the Illinois State School Board association was held yesterday in Old Aud.

The general session of the conference was opened at 9:30 by a welcoming talk given by President Quincy Doudna. The major address was given by C. J. Schlosser, a certified public accountant from Alton, who spoke on "The New Accounting Law in Illinois."

The afternoon session was opened at 1:15 with a panel discussion on problems of accounting of public school funds. Chairman of the discussion was Forest DeWeese, assistant superintendent of schools at Taylorville.

Dr. Gerhard C. Matzner of the education department was in charge of arrangements.

'The Happy Time' ...

Adult Love Comedy Set for Monday

The Players of Eastern Illinois university have teamed with residents of the Charleston community for the summer theatre production "The Happy Time." The performance has been scheduled for 8:30 p.m., Monday, July 29, in Lantz gym. Admission is free.

Written by Samuel Taylor, the play is an adult comedy of love in three acts. Set in Ottawa, Canada, during the twenties, the plot reveals the sometimes shocking, but always entertaining activities of a French family.

The philosophy of the drama looks to man's quest for the knowledge to use his mind, heart, and animal spirits, together correctly. The cast is as follows: Bibi, the adolescent son of 'Mamma and Papa Bonnard, will be played by Dick Meadows, a junior speech major from Olney; Alfred, the young suitor for Uncle Louis's daughter, will be portrayed by Darrell Lower, a graduate student from Mattoon.

Felice, Louis's wife, will be Mrs. Eileen Kemp, a senior from Morrisonville; Louis will be played by John M. Schoeph, manager of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce; and Desmonde, Louis's bachelor brother, will be acted by Mike Muchmore, a senior speech major from Charleston.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wayne will be husband and wife on stage, too. Jack Wayne will take the part of Papa Bon-

Second Round Bids on Structure Given Saturday in Chicago

Contracts for the construction of a Student Union building and cafeteria at Eastern were approved Saturday by the Teachers College Board, meeting in Chicago.

The Board awarded the general construction contract to J. L. Wroan and Sons, Inc., of Normal, Wroan's bid was $388,679.

A $169,906 plumbing contract went to Ray Moore Plumbing and Heating of Mattoon. Harrison F. Bladess, Inc., of Decatur received a $63,917 electrical contract, and Otis Elevator Co., of Chicago was awarded a $13,923 contract for the provision and installation of an elevator in the union building.

Danville Workshop Ends This Friday

A six-week workshop that is divided into two sessions began June 17 and will terminate this Friday. The workshop is being held in Danville and is offering regular student teaching classes and three classes that are regularly offered on campus.

These three classes are Education 232 and 345 under the direction of Dr. Hans Olsen of Eastern and Art 345 under the direction of Mr. Cary Knoop. Mrs. Lottie Leeds, a fourth grade teacher in Robinson and student teaching supervisor in Danville for grades three and four, and Mr. Harold Clapp, of Decatur and fifth and sixth grade student teaching supervisor of Danville are in charge of the student teaching faction of the workshop.

Sixteen students are enrolled for student teaching. They are experienced teachers who need credit in student teaching. Sixty children are enrolled in the laboratory school in Danville.

Summer Exam Schedule Released

The final examination schedule for the summer term as released from the office of the Dean of the Faculty is as follows:

Thursday, August 1

7:30 to 9:30—All 7:30 classes and double period classes meeting at 7:30 and 8:40.

9:50 to 11:50—All 8:40 classes and double period classes meeting at 8:40 and 9:50.

1:00 to 3:00—All 1:00 classes and double period classes meeting at 1:00 and 2:10.

Friday, August 2

7:30 to 9:30—9:50 classes and double period classes meeting at 9:50 and 11:00.

9:50 to 11:50—All 11:00 classes.

1:00 to 3:00—All 2:10 classes.

The awarding of contracts has been delayed at a previous meeting of the Teachers College Board because bids taken at that meeting exceeded the amount of funds available for the union building.

Funds for the building of Student Union buildings at the state universities come from student funds rather than state appropriated money.

Eastern's students voted to assess themselves $8.80 per quarter last fall in order to build the Student Union building here.

Original plans called for a $700,000 structure, but alumni officers are now conducting a survey to determine if substantial aid from them can be given. Such aid would probably be applied toward furniture and air-conditioning for the building.

Construction on the union building is expected to begin within a month.

In other action at the TCB meeting, the Board voted a special resolution commending Governor William Stratton for his legislative program for higher education.

The resolution, copies of which will go to the governor, officers of both state legislative houses, and members of the Budgetary Commission, said in part that the governor's program of recommended legislation for the 70th General Assembly "showed an intelligent concern for and an understanding of the needs of higher education and took steps to meet those needs."

Final plans for a fine arts building at Northern Illinois university were also approved by the Board; but it rejected all bids on construction of Northern's proposed health center and instructed the architects to draw plans and submit new specifications to be put out for bidding.

Summer Graduates To Meet July 31

Graduating seniors, master's degree candidates, and two-year diploma graduates are required to attend rehearsal for commencement on Wednesday, July 31 at 2:10 in the Women's gym according to Dean Hobart F. Heller.

The purpose of the meeting is to instruct candidates as to their order in the processional. Dr. Russell Landis is head marshal.

Class Tours Brewery, Auto Assembly Plant

The principles of management class of the business education department traveled to St. Louis last Friday to observe industries in operation.

Dr. Bertrand Holley, class instructor, accompanied the class on its tour through the Chevrolet assembly plant and the Anheuser-Busch brewery.

Civil Rights Legislation . . .

May Take A Long Time

History has been repeating itself recently in Congress in its chaotic struggle to settle the Civil Rights problem. Daniel Webster and John Calhoun tried to settle the issue unsuccessfully many years ago with heated discussions, only to accept a compromise by Henry Clay.

The compromise, instead of settling the issue, only served to delay the Civil War for a few years. Today Senator Lyndon Johnston is following his predecessor's footsteps by feeling his way toward a compromise based on limiting the substance of the bill to the single issue of suffrage in the Southern states.

If this compromise were accepted the South would have to make a great concession. The issue would be subdued in tone but no doubt tempers would still run high, and there would be much dissention in both the northern and southern factions.

The Civil Rights issue is one that should have been settled and buried with the fighting of the Civil War. But because it wasn't, it has lingered on to give the constitution and American ideals a black eye.

Both groups are anxious to settle this question once and for all, but in their haste they fail to recognize that the opinions of both sides are restricted to antiquated social lines. When one deals with the culture and acceptance of a geographical portion of the United States, it must be realized that an overnight miracle isn't feasible to change a group's way of reasoning with paper and ink.

This problem is one that will take time to settle and both factions should realize that a little foresight is needed to establish a major changeover of policy. The situation today is following almost precisely in the pattern it did before the Civil War.

This time we can only hope that the legislators can come to a working decision, even if it takes a long time. Time means nothing when it is pitted against splitting the United States into two grumbling units.

Maybe Milers . . .

Are Timed with 'Rabbit' Watches

Derek Ibbotson and four of his long-winded cohorts stepped off the mile run in less than four minutes Friday. By doing so they joined the ranks of a score or so of milers to break the miracle mile mark since it was first accomplished in 1954.

The wave of 'under-four-minute-men' to break the barrier since Dr. Roger Bannister first did it some three years ago is generally attributed to the fact that a psychological barrier formerly was responsible for the inability to run the mile under four minutes.

Now in baseball it's quite a different story. More home runs are being hit today than ever before. To what is the mass production of homers attributed? "Rabbit" in the ball that the old timers did not have.

But then it could be that athletes today are just a little better in running and in hitting the long ball than they were in the old days. This could be true despite the accusations of Rogers Hornsby that athletes today (baseball players specifically) are soft.

The Rajah and others blamed the long ball hitting on the livelier ball of today, but no-one has claimed the rash of 'under-four-minute-men' on a faster watch.

If Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Mickey Mantle and company are playing with a more nervy ball, perhaps today's milers are being timed with a watch with a "rabbit" in it also.

Beauty . . .

Gets Pretty Deep

Miss United States, whoops, Mrs. United States, whose father was 'dead' and then wasn't, who was broke and then wasn't, who was 21 and then wasn't, who had a sister who wasn't, who was the most beautiful woman in the United States and then wasn't, seems to have won something after all. It may not be in the form of thousands of dollars worth of lucrative prizes but she had more recognition last week than Jayne Mansfield could drum up in a bikini.

When Leona Gage, whoops, Leona Ennis, was named Miss United States, it turned the common, old, ordinary beauty pageant into one of the most publicized in its history.

Who said beauty was only skin deep? It sure got deep this year!

THE SOUNDING BOARD

by Larry Gordon

Due to the fact that my type-writer is not equipped with an air conditioning unit, I am resisting the temptation to give the weather what it is as hot as for about six hundred words. I will not yield to this temptation even though I am in the advanced throes of perspiration.

Rather than discuss the heat and the humidity, I will discuss air conditioning units. These units are a new thing on the American scene. They are designed, according to their name, to condition air. That is merely their name.

According to the advertisements appearing in every newspaper, magazine, and store window, their seeming purpose is secondary. Their primary purpose is ornamental.

They are proclaimed thin and low, with no ugly overhang. They come in various colors, so as to match the new living room console washing machines. In addition to this, they are designed to lower temperatures and increase the comfort in your home.

Performance, although secondary in importance, has to be mentioned to enable the manufacturers to spend the money allotted to them for advertising.

For instance, one ad that I read said that their air conditioners had 9700 BTU's and added How's that for Cooling Power? This, to me, is sheer stupidity. Sheer! The average American doesn't know whether this will cool the Hotel Grant or a linen closet. I'm average.

'Operation Moonwatch' Staged Civil Rights Bill Fight Under Way

by Melvin Sager

A group of amateur astronomers will be peering through telescopes at dusk Friday in hope of sighting a simulated earth satellite.

The exercise will be one in a series of similar observations to be held throughout the United States in preparation for "Operation Moonwatch" which will plot the orbit of the artificial satellite, due to be launched next spring.

Sometime between 8 and 9 p.m., Friday, a high-flying Air Force plane will tow a simulated satellite over the area and observers will seek to find it and plot its course.

Mackinac, Mich. county prosecutor James J. Brown, 36 years old, swam and pushed a raft with his chin for four hours Tuesday to rescue his son, Bobby, 6, after their 35-foot craft capsized in Lake Huron.

Brown improvised the raft from two life preservers, a wooden ladder and two pieces of plywood.

Supporters of the Administration's civil rights bill fought day against mounting Senate sentiment to confine the measure's terms to the protection of voting rights.

An influential Senator who asked not to be quoted by name said leadership polls indicate a majority of the Senate now favors an amendment by Senators Clinton P. Anderson (Dem.), New Mexico and George Aiken (Rep., Vermont, to narrow the bill's scope.

Anderson and Aiken have proposed eliminating section three of the bill which would authorize the Attorney General to seek injunctions to enforce all civil rights including desegregation of schools and other public places.

If the amendment were adopted, the proposed authority of the Attorney General to intervene would be limited to cases involving voting rights.

Senator Will F. Knowlton (Rep.), California, told reporters he thought the vote on the amendment "will be close but at this point I don't believe the Senate would be stricken from the bill."

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee today called new hearings on charges that the Teamsters and Bakers unions are corruptly dominated.

Al G. Hayes, chairman of the ethical practices group, set July 31 as the date for hearing charges against the Bakers, and August 1 to air accusations against the Teamsters.

Ouster of the two unions from the federation is the ultimate penalty for corrupt domination, it is believed. AFL-CIO leaders are trying to encourage the unions to eliminate leaders questioned in testimony before a Senate rackets committee so the unions themselves can remain in the AFL-CIO.

The Senate rackets investigating committee wound up hearings only yesterday into activities of Bakers union president James J. Cross. He refused to take a loyalty test as proposed by union rivals who told the Senators Cross had beat up a union officer and his wife. Cross denied the accusations.

Charleston Has Baseball Team; White Sox Begin Usual Fold

by George Barbour

This year, for the first time in several years, Charleston has a real honest to goodness baseball team. The team, an entry in the Midstate league and tentatively known as the Merchants, has compiled quite a respectable average for a first year team. Their record was four wins and two losses going into last Sunday's game with Effingham.

One of the main reasons that the team has been doing so well is that the local "boys" that started the team had presence of mind enough to take advantage of the college talent that was available.

Bob Dill has been carrying most of the pitching load for the team. He has three wins in four decisions and has been one of the more dependable men at the plate.

Chuck Holley is their regular second baseman and leading hitter. He is a good spray hitter but also has good power. He and Dill were both chosen on the league all star team and played in the all star game at Effingham.

Dill's battery mate is Jack Way. Jack has just returned to school this quarter after being discharged from the Air Force. He has been playing ball in Charleston since grade school and his reputation as a player is well established.

Dick Kelly, who probably needs no introduction to most people in school, is the regular center fielder for the team. Dick has been a regular on the college team and has displayed the same type of talent that got him there, in this league.

To sum it all up, what they have is a good solid line of college men starting with catcher and running through to center field. This line is filled in on both sides by the best local men possible, all of which makes for a pretty fair team.

It gets pretty tiresome having people standing around starring at you because they feel like their name should have been mentioned in the paper and wasn't. So here it is: Bob Jachino and Jim Stine. What did they do? Well Bob was the one who got the hit in the one hit softball game

Eastern's Football Schedule Released

Football practice at Eastern is scheduled to begin August 26, according to head football coach Ralph Kohl.

Candidates will draw equipment and hold a single practice on opening day. Thereafter, Kohl will conduct two practice sessions daily until the fall quarter opens September 9.

Eastern will play an eight-game schedule, opening September 21 against Indiana State at Terre Haute. The first of four games slated for Eastern's Lincoln field is a September 28 meeting with Southeast Missouri.

The schedule:

- Sept. 21—Indiana State, away
- Sept. 28—S.E. Missouri, home
- Oct. 5—Northern Illinois, home
- Oct. 12—Southern Illinois, away (nite)
- Oct. 19—Eastern Michigan, home
- Oct. 26—Western Illinois, home (Homecoming)
- Nov. 2—Central Michigan, away
- Nov. 9—Illinois Normal, away

THE SOCIAL SIDE

Exchange Student Talks On Irish Customs

Judith Konneker, a 1956 International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to Ireland, spoke yesterday to Eastern students on customs, life, and culture in Ireland.

Miss Konneker lived with farm people for five months and visited homes, schools, churches, and industrial centers in the country.

Teke's Initiate Pledges

Tau Kappa Epsilon recently initiated five pledges, whom they had pledged when the new open-pledging system went into effect. The new actives are as follows: Tom Brandon, Dan Cleary, Kenneth Koehn, Earl Legg, and Jerry McCain.

The Teke's also held their annual summer reunion during the initiation.

If you think the heat is too much to put up with this summer, give this a little thought: the monkey house at the St. Louis zoo has been air conditioned for the comfort of the monkeys.

Nearly Half of College Students Smoke; Reasons for Habit Varied

(ACP)—Slightly under half of all college students in the United States smoke regularly, and slightly under half don't smoke at all. The remaining few smoke only on rare occasions. The habit is more common among college men than among coeds by a fairly significant margin. A few students appear to be worried about recent stories linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer.

Associated Collegiate Press asked the following questions of a representative national cross-section of college students in order to collect collegiate opinion on the smoking issue:

Do you smoke? Why?
The results:	Men	Women	Total
Yes, smoke	50%	39%	46%
No, don't smoke	40%	49%	43%
Sometimes or rarely	10%	12%	11%

Regularly smoking students generally repeat advertising sales slogans when asked why they smoke. A Wartburg College (Waverly, Iowa) junior is very typical in his reply: "for relaxation." Many other students simply say: "enjoyment." Others smoke because they're nervous, some in order to keep their weight down, and some just don't know why. Many say they wish they could break the habit.

"I have to do something besides eat when I study," is the reply of a sophomore coed at Nebraska University (Lincoln), and an Ohio University (Athens) freshman coed says she smokes "because I have nothing else to do and I see everyone else doing it."

A Brooklyn College (Brooklyn, N.Y.) senior "likes it" because it is a "release for nervous energy," and a Southeastern State College (Durant, Okla.) graduate student condenses her reason into these three words: "I want to."

Non-smoking students generally have well defined reasons for not smoking. Many feel that it is bad for the health, some just don't have any desire to smoke, and some say it's too expensive. Some call it a filthy habit and others just see no need for it. Here are some comments typical of these viewpoints:

"It's a waste of money," is the opinion of an Ohio University sophomore. A sophomore coed attending Yakima Valley Junior College (Yakima, Wash.) feels it's both a "waste of time and money."

A graduate student at Ohio University believes that smoking "impairs the health," and a senior attending the College of Physicians and Surgeons (San Francisco, Calif.) states that there is "no advantage to smoking."

A Christian College (Columbia, Mo.) freshman coed has this personal reason for not smoking: "When you smoke you don't smell like a girl anymore, but like a cigarette."

Carlos Talbott Enters Air War College in Ala.

Colonel Carlos M. Talbot, an Eastern graduate and former Commander of the 322nd Fighter-Day Group at Foster Air Force Base, Texas, is enrolled at the Air War College at Maxwell AFB, Alabama.

After his graduation from Eastern, Talbott attended the U.S. Military Academy from 1939 to 1943.

During World War II he flew 88 combat missions over Europe and was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross, the Purple Heart, and the Air Medal with 16 Oak Leaf Clusters. He was also credited with destroying two enemy air crafts in the air.

In 1955 Colonel Talbott was winner of the Bendix Trophy race for jets, in which he flew at an average of 610 miles per hour over a three hour 48 minute course.

Recently the Charleston native piloted one of the six F-100Cs which crossed the Atlantic non-stop from London, England. Colonel Talbott was flight leader for the three Super Sabres which landed at Langley AFB, Virginia to participate in festivities at Jamestown. The other three flew on to Los Angeles, California to set a new non-stop record.

Before attending the Air War college, Talbott visited with his parents and friends in Charleston.

Husband, Wife Musical Team To Perform in Old Aud Today

A musical assembly featuring a husband and wife team, Miss JoAnn Crossman, pianist, and Mr. Donald Stenberg, a baritone, will be presented today at 9:50 in Old Aud.

Miss Crossman, an American pianist, is a native of California.

Miss JoAnn Crossman

She has appeared in concert, radio, television, and has performed as soloist on the Chicago Sympathy telecast and with numerous symphony orchestras.

For two consecutive years won first place in the International Recording festival and studied with such celebrated artists as Leo Podolsky, Rudolph Kusan, and Adolph Baller.

Mr. Stenberg, a lyric tenor of Scandinavian parentage, received acclaim for his appearances in concert, oratorio, and with symphony orchestras. He holds a Master of Music degree from the American Conservatory of Music and has with such eminent teachers as Frances Grund, Marital Stenberg, and in Europe with Mary Stenberg.

This program will be the eighth and concluding assembly of the summer.
